The True Story of $100 Million in Lost Russian Gold -and One Man's Lifelong Quest to Recover It Keith Jessop and Neil Hanson "Outstanding, inspiring, and beautifully told. No true tale of the sea makes better reading."-Clive Cussler Here is the true tale of a small-time salvage diver, the crushing depths of the sea, and the richest prize ever found-$100 million in pure gold. Follow salvage diver Keith Jessop as he battles nature, governments, traitors, salvage monopolies, and, of course, lawyers to claim the grand prize of wrecks-the HMS Edinburgh. Filled with ten tons of Russian gold, the ship had been sought by many, but never found.
Through unyielding determination, extraordinary physical prowess, and keen intelligence, Keith Jessop risks all to reach his final destination, and keeps readers

Journal Note Book Booklet Log Book Memo 110 Pages. This new 2nd edition of Bradt's Croatia: Istria, with Rijeka and the Slovenian Adriatic has been fully updated and remains the only full-length guide to the region including background and practical information. Istria has some of Croatia's most famous sites, including Pula's Roman amphitheatre, UNESCO-protected Byzantine mosaics in Porec, picturesque medieval hilltowns and frescoes, and the Brijuni Islands National Park, home to Tito's summer residence. This guide also includes the transport hub and gateway city of Rijeka in the neighbouring Kvarner region, which is set to become European Capital of Culture in 2020. Istria makes a great base to explore the nearby Capodistria region of the Slovenian coast and Karst areas, including beautiful coastal towns, Lipizzaner horses and UNESCO-listed caves, all of which are given expanded coverage in this new edition. Also new is increased coverage of the Parenzana cycling and hiking route. With detailed sections on trekking, cycling and diving, plus information on windsurfing, paragliding, wreck diving (including sites such as the Coriolanus and the Baron Gautsch) and sailing, Bradt's Croatia: Istria, with Rijeka and the Slovenian Adriatic is ideal for adventurous people of all ages and on all budgets, who are curious about this well-heeled part of the former Yugoslavia. There is also a comprehensive wildlife section. Croatia is renowned for its cuisine (and particularly its truffles) and there is plenty of pampering on offer, too, with some excellent luxury and boutique hotels and restaurants, as well as cheap spas and treatments compared to the rest of mainland Europe. Festivals, music, travelling with children, buying and maintaining property in Croatia, dinosaur tracks and ancient history are all included, as are inland areas which often receive comparatively little attention (and with the exception of Motovun see far fewer visitors than the coast). Self-confidence, perseverance, grit, motivation to achieve, and passion are absolutely needed for a student to be successful. Make your choices based on your aptitude and interest. Once you put in the effort from your side, success will follow. It further reveals critical management issues of economic, environmental and socio-cultural impacts related to scuba diving tourism which extends to the influence of climate change on the industry 's operations and future. BEYOND is the perfect title for these underwater adventures because they can go from the expected to the unexpected with a flip of a fin.

Veteran diver Bob Burgess starts it with his personal account of an encounter of the worst kind. A hungry Bull shark corners him on Sand Key with a bagful of speared fish. When the shark demands the fish it makes Bob mad. He stubbornly hugs his catch and fins fast for his boat with the bull hot on his tail. What follows is beyond belief but Bob describes it just the way it happened... and lived to tell the tale that he believes was nothing short of divine intervention. But it wasn't the first time things happened out there beyond the expected. Readers get to share some of the scariest and strangest underwater adventures of the last 50 years that this pioneer diver describes in detail. "Beyond" has readers lost in an underwater cave as the diver's light dies; and later he loses a camera in a prehistoric forest. Along the way he dives a spring that gives up a human skull containing a convoluted brain that carbon dates to 10,000 years BP! He will introduce you to the Mermaids of Crystal River. On the barrier reef south of Belize he takes you through a hole in the sea bottom into an Ice Age cavern as sharks circle you. This book takes readers on so many offbeat adventures that one reviewer wrote: 'Don't begin this book unless you plan to stay with it because once you start you can't put it down.' You may get scared but the best part is you won't get wet! In 1944, ten years before Jacques Yves Cousteau liberated divers with his Aqua-Lung, Robert Burgess built a diving rig to explore a shipwreck near Lake Michigan. In 1972 he was scuba certified in Florida where he dived and wrote about his experiences. In January 1994 Robert Burgess was awarded the SSI Scuba Schools International Platinum PRO 5000 Diver rating for making over 5,000 logged Open Water Dives. He still writes about them. Martyn Farr's The Darkness Beckons charts the history and development of cave diving, from early underwater expeditions in France in the late nineteenth century, through to cutting-edge dives across the globe, where iron-willed individuals are pushing the limits of equipment and techniques in the pursuit of exploration. Cave diving is the natural evolution of caving, where cavers and open-water divers overcome the challenges of water-filled passages by using specialist breathing apparatus to explore further and deeper than ever before. The challenges are many – distance, depth, temperature, visibility, rockfall and simple restriction in passage size – together with the physical and mental demands placed on an individual in an environment where, despite meticulous preparation, equipment can malfunction and one cannot expect to be rescued if something goes wrong. Early cave dives were made using Standard Equipment diving suits, before 'frogman' equipment was adopted by British and Italian divers in the 1940s. Around the same time, Jacques-Yves Cousteau and Émile Gagnan designed the compressed-air aqualung, the first scuba equipment. The development of breathing apparatus has continued, alongside solutions to evermore challenging projects, especially those at extreme depth. British cave divers, including the author, have been at the forefront of many developments, such as the explorations at Wookey Hole in the Mendips, Keld Head in the Yorkshire Dales and Pozo Azul in Spain. Cave diving today is a truly international endeavour, and Farr gives detailed and engaging accounts of developments in Europe, the Americas, Australia and New Zealand, Southern Africa and more. Farr introduces cave diving's pioneers and chronicles their achievements. Among a cast of many are the Britons Graham Balcombe and Mike Boon; the American Sheck Exley, who died while attempting to establish a new depth record in the Zacatón sinkhole in Mexico; and the outstanding German cave diver and equipment innovator Jochen Hasenmayer. The stories of their adventures are charged with courage, danger and excitement, and some have led to tragedy. First published in 1980, this 2017 edition of The Darkness Beckons has been fully revised and updated to reflect the latest developments. Featuring over 400 breathtaking photographs and illustrations, and with a foreword by renowned American cave diver and explorer Bill Stone, it is an inspirational read for anyone with an interest in exploration and adventure. A new edition of the most thorough guide to Croatia on the market.
